The Gardeners Delight

Yews

This page of offerings should be indeed the delight of every gardener. The Yew is the coming evergreen. Its comparatively freedom from insects and pests, its ability to grow even in the darkest shade, combined with its longevity and dark green color all the year around makes it one of the most beautiful and desirable evergreens. No wonder its popularity is ever increasing.

The Yews we offer have all proven their hardiness. All are strong transplants and between 4 and 5 years old. They have an especially strong root system and are ready to grow fast from now on. Although prices for Yews have risen considerably we have kept ours as low as possible so that every home owner can afford to plant a few of these fine Yews.

Japanese Dwarf Yew.

The Japanese Dwarf Yew is one of the most desirable evergreen for the small place. Grows rather slow, but very compact. Stands shade very well. Irregular and very picturesque in outline. It can be trimmed into globe form. If space is limited plant a Dwarf Yew. Very hardy.

Twice transplanted trees- 8-10 inches.
Each 70¢ - 2 for $ 1.30 Postpaid.

Intermedia Yew.

This is a rather fast growing Yew with a form of growth similar to the spreading Yew. Foliage is heavy, deep green waxy. The Intermedia Yew is very hardy and easy to transplant. Very good for the foundation planting, also for a low hedge.

Strong transplanted trees-8-10 inches
Each 65¢ - 2 for $ 1.00 postpaid.

Hicks Yew.

This is one of the newer Yews. It has the same columnar form as the Irish Juniper but is more hardy. The foliage is dark green. This Yew at times bears a great amount of dark red berries. The landscape uses of the Hicks Yew are many: Entrance plantings, formal gardens, specimens, also as a hedge. The Hicks Yew was originated at the Hicks nurseries, Long Island, New York, hence its name. Although scarce at present, like all Yews, it will in time become very popular.

We Offer

Hatfield Yew.

This is another of the newer Yews. It was developed by Mr. Hatfield, former superintendent of the Hunnewell estate at Wellesley, Mass. The Hatfield Yew is one of the compactest grower. Its form of growth is somewhat like the Hicks Yew, but a little more open on top. The foliage is very heavy and luxuriant, dark green in color.

Hallorean Yew.

This is the latest addition to the family of Hybrid Yews. It has all the characteristics of the Japanese Yew: dark green foliage, tolerance of shade, freedom from insects and pests and hardiness. The form of growth of the Hallorean Yew is broadly pyramidal. It is one of the fastest growing Yew. Its uses in the landscape are the same as of the Upright Yew. We recommend this new Yew very highly. Do not miss this offer.

Japanese Spreading Yew.

The Spreading Yew is a valuable plant for the foundation planting. It has a pleasing informality that lends itself well for group planting. Will withstand smoke and other adverse city conditions and is green all the year.

We Offer:

Twice transplanted trees
12-15 inches
Each: 70¢--- 2 for $ 1.30

Extra heavy trees
15-18 inches- Each $ 1.00

Browns Yew.

The Brown's Yew is a new member in the Yew family. It resembles the Spreading Yew, however it is of more compact growth. The heavy waxy foliage is dark green. Like all Yews it tolerates shade and city conditions.

We Offer:

Twice transplanted trees
12 inches
Each: 70¢ -- 2 for $ 1.30

Extra heavy trees
14-16 inches- Each $ 1.00

Hunnewell Yew.

Hunnewell Yew is another of the newer Yews. It is a natural cross between the Japanese and American Yew. In habit of growth, color of foliage and general appearance it is intermediate between the parents. Fine for the foundation where limited height is desired. A very desirable tree for the middle west. Very hardy.

Sturdy trees -- 10-12 inches
Each: 60¢- 2 for only $1.00

Hunnewell Yew

Pyramidal Yew.

The Pyramidal Yew is of somewhat slower growth. This characteristic however insures a dense compact tree. The form of growth is of a conical pyramid. Foliage is very dark green and resembles the foliage of the Japanese Dwarf Yew. Wherever a medium sized upright evergreen is wanted the pyramidal Yew is the answer.

Sturdy trees-- 10-12 inches
Each: 60¢ -- 2 for only $1.00

Pyramidal Yew

The well known Japanese Upright Yew is at present not only very scarce but also high-priced. We mean of course the Upright Yew grown from seed. There have been some raised from cuttings, but these do not make very nice trees. We were very fortunate to obtain a supply of seed-grown Upright Yew. Nice bushy trees grown in field rows. 6 years old. These are probably the last grown from prewar seed. Yew seed takes 2 years to germinate.- We have the price kept low as we want our customers to have a share in this exceptionall bargain. However the supply is small, better order at once.

Upright Japanese Yew

The fine qualities of the Upright Japanese Yew, as well as of the other Yews become more and more known. Here are a few: Dark green color prevails the year around, grows in shady location as well as in sunshine, practically free from diseases and pests and finally it will grow even under city conditions. On the northside of the house or on any other shady spot-plant a Yew.

We Offer:

Seed-grown Upright Yew - 6years old twice transplanted - 15-18 Inches.

Each: $ 1.25
Postpaid.

Thayer Yew.

This latest addition to the Yew Family resembles somewhat the Spreading Yew. However it grows a little lower. The Thayer Yew has a good dark green color which remains the same the year throughout. It is one of the fastest growing Yews. Like all the Yews it has at times red berries, which are so much admired. The use of the Thayer Yew in the landscape are the same as those of the Spreading Yew.

Thayers' Yew

Trees we offer are bushy
Twice transplanted and 10-12 inches high.

Each: 80¢--- 2 for $ 1.40

Anderson Yew.

Here is another of the newer Yews of media type. It is a rather fast grower with a very pleasing green color. Its form of growth is broadly vase-shaped. It stands like all the Yews trimming very well. Excellent for the foundation planting, as a specimen and for hedges. We believe this Yew will become very popular once it becomes more widely known. Why not include the Anderson Yew in your planting.

Trees we offer are sturdy
4 year old transplants
10-12 inches.
